

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the shareholders of CORDIA International Zrt.

Report on the audit of the consolidated financial statements

Opinion

We have audited the consolidated financial statements of CORDIA International Zrt. (from 1 January 2024 CORDIA International SE) (the "Company") and its subsidiaries (together the "Group") for the financial year ended on 31 December 2023 which comprise the consolidated statement of financial position as at 31 December 2023 (in which total assets equal to total equity and liabilities are MHUF 287,110), the consolidated statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income (in which the total comprehensive income for the period, net of tax is MHUF 9,418 profit), the consolidated statement of changes in equity, the consolidated statement of cash flows for the financial year then ended and the notes to the consolidated financial statements comprising material accounting policy information and other explanatory information.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements give a true and fair view of the consolidated financial position of the Group as at 31 December 2023, and of its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the financial year then ended in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") as adopted by the European Union ("EU").

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with Hungarian National Standards on Auditing ("HNSA") and with applicable laws and regulations in force in Hungary. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the "Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements" section of our report.

We are independent of the Group in accordance with the applicable laws of Hungary, with the Hungarian Chamber of Auditors' Rules on ethics and professional conduct of auditors and on disciplinary process and, for matters not regulated in the Rules, with the International Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (including International Independence Standards) issued by the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants (IESBA Code) and we also comply with further ethical requirements set out in these.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Our audit approach

Overview

Overall group materiality	Overall group materiality applied was MHUF 2,800
Group Scoping	We included 37 subsidiaries operating in five countries in our audit which amount up to 90% of the consolidated total assets and 97% of the consolidated revenue for the year.
Key Audit Matter	Net realizable value of inventory

As part of designing our audit, we determined materiality and assessed the risks of material misstatement in the consolidated financial statements. In particular, we considered where management made subjective judgements; for example, in respect of significant accounting estimates that involved making assumptions and considering future events that are inherently uncertain. As in all of our audits, we also addressed the risk of management override of internal controls, including among other matters, consideration of whether there was evidence of bias that represented a risk of material misstatement due to fraud.

Materiality

The scope of our audit was influenced by our application of materiality. An audit is designed to obtain reasonable assurance whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement. Misstatements may arise due to fraud or error. They are considered material if individually or in aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the consolidated financial statements.

Based on our professional judgement, we determined certain quantitative thresholds for materiality, including the overall materiality for the consolidated financial statements as a whole as set out in the table below. These, together with qualitative considerations, helped us to determine the scope of our audit and the nature, timing and extent of our audit procedures and to evaluate the effect of misstatements, if any, both individually and in aggregate on the consolidated financial statements as a whole.

Materiality	MHUF 2,800
Determination	1% of the consolidated total assets.
Rationale for the materiality benchmark applied	We chose consolidated total assets as the benchmark because, in our view, it is the benchmark against which the performance of the Group is most commonly measured by users and it is a generally accepted benchmark.

Group audit scope

We tailored the scope of our audit in order to perform sufficient work to enable us to provide an opinion on the consolidated financial statements as a whole, taking into account the structure of the Group, the accounting processes and controls, and the industry in which the Group operates.

We have identified 17 subsidiaries, which, in our view, required an audit of their complete financial information, due to their financial significance or risk to the Group. Those reporting components are the major operating entities in Hungary.

In addition, we performed the audit of specific balances and transactions of 20 subsidiaries in Poland, Romania, Spain and the United Kingdom.

For the remaining components we performed analytical review on Group level. This together with additional procedures performed at the Group level, including testing of consolidation journals and intercompany eliminations, gave us the evidence we needed for our opinion on the Group financial statements as a whole.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matter

How our audit addressed the key audit matter

Net realizable value of inventory

Inventory consists of residential real estate projects under development or construction and is the most significant financial statement line item in the consolidated financial statements of the Group. As of 31 December 2023, inventory amounted to MHUF 173,187 and represented 60% of the total assets. The Group recognized write-down on a project in an amount of MHUF 1,037.

Inventory is measured at the lower of cost and net realizable value. The cost of inventory includes, amongst others, land engineering and construction fees, planning and design costs, real estate taxes, borrowing costs and professional fees directly attributable to the projects, construction overheads and other directly related costs.

The Group assessed internally the net realizable value of the inventory and decreased

We understood and evaluated the net realizable value assessment process, performed a walkthrough of the process, and evaluated the design of the controls over the process.

We evaluated whether the accounting of inventory is in line with the Group Accounting Manual.

We examined whether inventory is periodically assessed by the Group's management and the net realizable values are estimated based on appropriate data.

We involved our internal real estate valuation specialists to assist us in obtaining an understanding of management's analysis and checking the related external valuation reports. We evaluated the work of the management and management's experts, including the competence, with respect to the net realizable value assessment.

the value when the net realizable value was lower than the cost. The net realizable value calculation is highly dependent on estimates like, amongst others, the estimated sales prices per m², the estimated construction costs and the expected timing of sale of the units. Management performed the valuation and assessed any possible write-downs on inventory for each project separately, according to the projection of revenues net of cost of sales.

We focused on the net realizable value of inventory because the value of inventory is significant to the consolidated financial statements and significant estimates are involved in the assessment of the net realizable value.

The disclosures about significant judgements and estimates related to inventory valuation are presented in the note 2 (e) "Use of estimates and critical judgements" to the consolidated financial statements. The disclosures regarding inventory were presented in note 21 of the consolidated financial statements.

Additionally, we performed substantive audit procedures and tested the net realizable value and the key assumptions used, including comparing these assumptions to similar projects on the market and actually realized results of the net realizable value calculations on individual projects.

Other information: the management report included in the annual report

Other information comprises the management report included in the annual report of the Group for the financial year ended on 31 December 2023. Management is responsible for the preparation of the management report and for the preparation of the annual report. Our opinion on the consolidated financial statements does not cover the management report or the annual report.

In connection with our audit of the consolidated financial statements, our responsibility is to read the management report and the annual report and, in doing so, consider whether the management report and the annual report is materially inconsistent with the consolidated financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If based on our work performed we conclude that the management report and the annual report is materially misstated, we are required to report this fact, and the nature of the misstatement.

In our opinion, regarding the financial year ended on 31 December 2023, the management report and the annual report of the Group is consistent, in all material respects, with the consolidated financial statements for the financial year ended on 31 December 2023.

We are not aware of any other material inconsistency or material misstatement in the management report and the annual report and therefore we have nothing to report in this respect.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the consolidated financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation of the consolidated financial statements that give a true and fair view in accordance with IFRS as adopted by the EU, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with HNSAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with HNSAs, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that gives a true and fair view.

- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the Group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, actions taken to eliminate threats or safeguards applied.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
